

DRAFT SALT LAKE VALLEY GROUND-WATER PRIORITY LIST

The attached draft priority list shows the ground-water rights in the Salt Lake Valley and their estimated potential withdrawals. The water rights are sorted by region as per the proposed ground-water management plan. The assumptions and methodology used to create this list are set forth below.

- Only approved and perfected rights are considered. Approved changes are also listed.
- Only underground water rights are considered including wells and tunnels, but excluding springs and underground water drains.
- For domestic use, the potential diversion is 0.45 acre-feet per family of five.
- For stock-watering use, the potential diversion is 2.8 acre-feet per 100 head of cattle.
- Irrigation duty is 5 acre-feet per acre.
- Domestic use, stock-watering, and irrigation potential diversion amounts are equal to the potential diversion calculated for that use (see above) divided by the total number of supplemental rights listed under the water right for that use. If there is a sole supply acreage listed, the potential diversion for irrigation is equal to the number of sole supply acres multiplied by the irrigation duty irrespective of any supplemental rights.
- For municipal use, the potential diversion equals the volume associated with one half of the maximum flow rate.
- For industrial use, the potential diversion equals the volume associated with one quarter of the maximum flow rate.
- The total potential diversion for a water right is equal to the sum of the potential diversion for each of its uses. If the flow rate will not supply the volume of water calculated for total uses, the potential diversion is reduced accordingly. If there is a maximum diversion volume listed in the water right, the potential diversion will not exceed that amount.
- Only water rights with a potential diversion greater than or equal to 50 acre-feet per year are shown on the priority list.
- The potential diversion for any given water right is evenly distributed to all points of diversion listed under that water right.
